TRUE CRIME DRAMA

Getting away with murder

Jerome McNobody thought the police bought his story.

He was away that night, visiting his sister, he said. But homicide Detective Frank Patterson is the kind of guy who can't help double-checking everything. His wife, Donna, says Frank can't cut a 2-by-4 without using two different measuring tapes. "He even checks his spelling when he writes to our son in college," she says. The other detectives had talked with the McNobody's sister, but Patterson ... Continued on A14.

CAR LIFE

Other drivers drive me nuts!

Tony Marinetti

By Tony Marinetti, Car Life columnist
Yo, dude! There's room on your side of the road! Every morning, same thing: I'm driving the kids to school but traffic keeps stopping because some blind or skittish driver won't venture within three feet of a parked car. So the car crosses over into my lane, making me wait and jamming up those behind me. I watch what I say with preteens in the car, but ... Continued on D4
